Francesco Bergamaschi

Philosophy & Computer Science Student

Bologna, Italy
+39 342 505 6340
francesco25b03@gmail.com
Francesco Bergamaschi
FrancescoBergamaschi

Professional Summary

Philosophy and Computer Science student with a strong interest in human-centered AI, logic, science studies and AI foundations. Combining technical and theoretical perspectives through academic work in formal reasoning, programming, and AI systems.

Education

Sep 2025 – Present Bachelor's Degree in Computer Science, University of Bologna, Bologna, Italy

Sep 2024 – Present Master's Degree in Philosophy, University of Bologna, Bologna, Italy
Relevant coursework: Logic, Science Studies, Foundations of AI, Philosophy of Science

2021 – 2024 Bachelor's Degree in Philosophy, University of Bologna, Bologna, Italy
Relevant coursework: Ethics, Logic for Computer Science, Logic
Thesis: The Dying God. A Dialogue between the Officia Passionis of Francis of Assisi and Bonaventure of Bagnoregio
Final grade: 110/110, cum laude

Research Interests

Logic — Set Theory, First-Order and Higher-Order Logic, Logic for Computer Science

AI — Foundations of AI, Knowledge Representation

Science Studies — History of Science, Culture-Nature Relations, Anthropocene Studies

Work Experience

Jan 2024 – Jun 2024 Teaching Tutor Internship, Liceo Scientifico Fulcieri Paulucci di Calboli, Forlì, Italy
Assisted teaching activities in high school.

Skills

Programming — C++, Python, Java, Prolog

Tools — Linux, OWL/Protégé

Languages — Italian (Native), English (Advanced)

Certifications/Training courses

ICDL — European Digital Competence Certification

SISMEL — 29th International Bibliographic Training Course. (Medieval studies)

Summer School — Bologna for Climate Justice. Climate Justice University

Interests

Medieval philosophy, entomology, hiking